A Note to Parents and Grandparents

Wouldn't it be great if there were a program that made math easy? This program would let kids practice and truly master math skills at their own speed, and without any guilt or shame if they learn at a different pace.

And the program would be online and mobile, so kids could play on their iPads and smartphones. And it would be gamified, so they'd want to play.

And importantly, this game would be easy for parents, grandparents, tutors and caregivers to use and monitor. The program would create worksheets for your child based on the standards for his or her grade, and you could monitor your child's progress with the click of a button. You could even compare how he or she has done on quizzes over time and across different levels. You'd be able to see exactly what your child needs and be able to supply it quickly and easily.

That would be a very valuable program!

That is exactly what we've created. It's called +1 MATH.

+1 MATH is built on the idea that we need to teach students true math fluency in an efficient, non-threatening way. Our game-based testing challenges students while keeping their self-esteem high. And it's also built to be user-friendly for adults, too.

We know +1 MATH will give your child a great advantage in math class. We look forward to your child's success!

Sincerely,

Elie Venezky, Program Designer, +1 MATH
